In your words   I will be using Twitter data and the API for a research project that aims to analyze usage of public spaces. We will be querying by certain location terms and will be analyzing the types of languages that is posted with the tag/keyword.

Analyze Twitter data   Yes

                         We will be querying based on location (if possible) and keyword queries to analyze the types of languages Tweets are posted in for the given location.
